ALPINE RETREAT

Tucked away in this Alpine retreat, is "L'Ô des Cimes" our luxurious high altitude spa of 200m2, where the delights of nature are celebrated. In the choice of materials, noble and seductive, a juxtaposition of styles is on show:

dark and limpid, pebble rugs, dressed stone walls, animal skin cushions, hunting trophies, anything and everything to feed the soul.

Panoramic terraces facing the snow-capped, 4000m peaks extend the spa outside, for a total immersion in the natural surroundings.

KOBIDO & GUA SHA

Facial sculpting massages which visibly reduce the signs of time.

KOBIDO LIFTING MASSAGE

Ancestral Japanese art provided through different pressures and gestures. This results in multiple benefits. True natural lifting, the features are smoothed, the complexion radiant.

The Kobido helps to revive the micro circulation of the face, to give radiance to the skin, to promote the production of natural collagen, to reduce wrinkles and fine lines, to plump the skin and to eliminate toxins.

During a Kobido session, the face is cleansed, hydrated and energized thanks to the stimulation of the meridians.

Practiced regularly, Kobido helps fight facial aging by reducing the effects of fatigue and stress on expression lines and by fighting against sagging skin.

Sfr. 240.- / 50 min.

GUASHA GEMSTONE FACIAL

The Gua Sha is a very glorious natural stone tool in traditional Chinese medicine: it aspires to harmonize the energies of body and mind for an absolute release.

It brings radiance to the complexion, detoxifies, sculpts and lifts facial features.

The gua sha acts on the deep tissues, it makes it possible to catch the muscle fiber in depth and thus offers a more advanced sculpting and lifting action. The shape of the gua sha stone makes it possible to precisely work the contours of the face.

Sfr. 240.- / 50 min.

ALPEOR

Advocating "the beauty cure made in Switzerland", Alpeor continues a local and family tradition, which began in the 1950s, within the Clinique du bien-être Mirabeau in Montreux.

The brand now offers effective skincare from this tradition combined with modern scientific excellence, with an expert line that durably repairs damage linked to skin aging or caused by the stress of urban life. All the rigor and charm of Switzerland are concentrated in these treatments which combine avant-garde ingredients, exclusive active complexes derived from plants from the region and pure water from the Alps.

Pierce the intimate mechanisms of life, borrow the power of plants, reproduce their incredible virtues to transmit them to your skin. Alpeor research uses no less than three scientific disciplines (phytotherapy, phytochemistry and dermatology) to create technological and innovative treatments inspired by the genius of nature. This multidisciplinary approach allows our scientific experts to master the origins of aging and to bring out the antiaging solutions of tomorrow from plants.

OUR CARE SIGNATURE

- Inspired by our region -

THE RITUAL FROM ANNIVIERS

The idea of offering you the "Rituel d'Anniviers" came to me quite naturally. By dint of walking in the mountain pastures in the company of Rose, my favorite herbalist, I understood that we could not remain indifferent to the richness of the surrounding nature.

So many treasures hidden here and there, on the edges of the paths or in the flowery meadows. In particular, yarrow won us over with its sanitizing and astringent properties. It is picked from the first days of summer in large decorative bouquets. Once the flowers have faded, we dry them upside down and keep them carefully in our attic away from light and humidity. This is where our reserves are to supply our spa until the next season. During the exfoliation with yarrow, our therapists only use the tops with small seeds that roll gently under the hand for a very gentle exfoliation. It is said that bouquets of yarrow hanging above the bed bring happiness to couples for 7 years!

Then, the clay of the Moiry glacier is so beneficial for the joints. When I was a child, we brought it to my grandfather to make poultices to soothe the pain in his knees. The water flowing under the glacier is rich in mineral particles, which are naturally deposited in a small lake formed at the foot of the glacier. When autumn comes, equipped with small shovels, barefoot, we fill our buckets to build up our reserves for the winter. We take advantage of the gentle rays of the sun to dry this precious glacial clay in thin layers, which will then be hydrated again and used for the wrap during the Ritual of Anniviers.

The last phase of this ritual gives pride of place to the alpine flora. Who would have thought that nature is so generous and that we can find everything our skin needs there? Rosehip petals, wild pansies, vulnerary anthyllides and plantain are picked in the summer by our little hands and delicately dried on large sheets in the attic. In the off-season, we take the opportunity to make small flower purses that will be soaked in hot grapeseed oil to release their amazing virtues during a gentle massage.

THE RICH PROMISE OF VINOTHERAPY

- All in grapes -

BACK TO THE SOURCE

It is in my childhood memories that I drew the necessary inspiration for this new project. The time spent in the family vineyards where the daily work of the greats and respect for nature mingled gave rise to this sublime ritual.

Rich in smells and sensations, the vine brings many benefits. I remember the sap running down our fingers during spring pruning, the smell of the vine blossom in May, the taste of the tendrils we crunched on absentmindedly, the smell of foliage crumpled in our hands, the scent of bindweed flowers and amaranth strewing the freshly plowed earth, the harvest under the Valais sun and the buzzing of bees on the ripe fruit! So many stimulating emotions to bring this project to the doors of our spa.

In collaboration with Sierre cellar-master Maurice Zufferey and my brother Christian, we eventually settled on Cornalin pomace and lees from the last harvest. Once the pinot noir wine was racked off, the lees were sun-dried in St-Luc at an altitude of 1652m. Here, the fresh air and the sunlight worked to naturally purify these lees.

It became clear what I needed to do, and fast - I had to dig deep into the nearby land and share the benefits of the vine... and at the same time breathe new life into some of my cherished childhood memories.

VINOTHERAPY

The use of grapes in cosmetology dates back to the 17th century, at the court of Louis XIV, where it was fashionable to apply aged wine to the face to give the complexion a glow.

In fact, red wine owes its protective properties to its great richness in natural antioxidants: Tannins, flavonoids.

They protect the walls of blood vessels and through their antioxidant effect have a favorable effect on cholesterol levels.

Grape seed also has many virtues thanks to polyphenols rich in vitamin E, which have the power to reinforce the natural protection of the epidermis and to fight effectively against free radicals, responsible for 80% of skin ageing.

Wine yeast is both soothing and healing, it strengthens our skin's defences.

Grapes are rich in directly assimilable sugars as well as in vitamins, mineral salts, acids and trace elements. This richness makes it an excellent energy food.

and tears of pinot noir

Soothing - healing - antioxidant - regenerating - and strengthens our skin's defenses

Massage with ultra-fine organic grapeseed oil Organic grapeseed oil is known for its nourishing and softening 50' properties. Natural fragrance embellished with a homemade oily maceration of fig tree leaves from the banks of the Rhône Virtues: reinforce the natural protection - preserves the hydration of the epidermis - promotes blood circulation
